

NEVADA'S CLAIMS.

The APPEAL is indebted to Senator Stewart for his report from the Military Committee on military affairs. It is known that Senator Stewart introduced a bill to have Nevada reimbursed for money paid and contracted to be paid by the Territory of Nevada, which was assumed when the State was organized.

The document has over one hundred and fifty pages and gives a full history of the action of the General Government and State during the time these obligations were created. Among the exhibits he sets forth a full statement of payments to the several States of the United States for expenditures made by them during several of the great struggles as well as an itemized account of the claims of Nevada. The Gazette says:

The report is another evidence of the thoroughness with which our Senator does things. Nothing has escaped his intention that would have an intelligent tendency to have our rights properly placed before Congress. He cites the decisions made by the authorities before whom these claims have been placed, their action, and has gone into the records, showing the position taken by the committee and prominent members of Congress on State claims of similar character growing out of the war of 1812 and later wars. If the claimants do not get their just deserts in this matter it will not be the lack of an able and statesman-like fight on the part of Senator Stewart.

Sarcastic.

A recent issue of the Bodie Miner has the following local:

All gentlemen in Mono county who do not desire an office at the coming election are requested to meet at Miners Union Hall, Bodie, next Monday evening, to take the preliminary steps to prevent having an office thrust upon them.

The Washoe Indians are fast becoming civilized. Not long since a stalwart buck called on a Reno merchant and asked the loan of a carriage, stating that he desired to visit Virginia City. Last week a lady asked a high-toned mahala to wash for her, and Mrs. Lo replied, "I will have to consult my husband first." And yesterday we noticed Captain Pete with a half yard of craps on his hat, out of respect to the memory of a deceased brother. Thus are the giant strides of civilization made manifest.

The Chronicle instead of making any reply to our questions on the tariff charges the APPEAL with having but 75 subscribers.

We will guarantee that each one of those subscribers will know more about the absurdity of the Chronicle's position on free trade than the Chronicle editor himself before election day.

The Examiner is exhausting its energies telling the workmen that they can get a suit of clothes for $10 when the tariff is reduced, but neglects to tell how many good hard days work will be required for the workman to make that $10 if the Free Traders win.

The beautiful halo around the sun observed here recently was caused by the refraction of the sun's light through particles of ice floating in the atmosphere. The explanation is given in the Sacramento Bee by Sergeant Barwick.

Now that the Democrats have decided to make the rank and file wipe their noses it seems a pity that Colgate wasn't put on the ticket so that soap could have been introduced along with the wipes.
